8.1 web design tips for better blogs, web pages and graphics, from various people with various experiences. I would like to make these templates with you. I will make them in a higher resolution for you to download. This is my business website I created for a painter/artist. I'm looking for something to show off his work. I would like to have these logo templates to use for my websites or business cards. This project is to produce a simple, easy-to-read comic book that illustrates the principles of an elite organization, including who the organization is, what it's about, and why it's effective. This has to be a brief (3 pages max) comic book designed for a young audience. ...all images and letters will be replaced. That being said, I like a little character and a little humor in what I do and I would like the same in my website. So I am not looking for something cutesy, I like to work with my brand. I like the overall look of the website (color scheme, look and feel, general feel) to be unique. I am looking for something with a similar look and feel as this link: [login to view URL] The logo needs to be clean and crisp. I like the blue colour scheme in the logo example, so we would be using that colour scheme with the logo. The company is a small business selling clothing and accessories for men and women - so we'd like the logo to have a masculine feel. The logo will be used on business cards and websites, so it's important to be large enough to print well. ... We would like to use this simple logo and colour scheme on our website, which is very plain. The colours we would like to use are the same as in the banner below. We like the mix of colours and the illustration of the brand name, and think that the logo is very simple. But we don't like the font on the banner. We would like to use the same font...have to be from the same brand or other 3rd party brand, not your own. We have 4 main product lines, which all have different presentations. The 4 sections are: - The Dog Weblog - The Dog Blog - The Dog Support Forum - The Dog Homepage So we want a logo that is easily recognisable across all 4 of these products, and that will work with 82157476af
